A CRYPTIC CHALLENGE!

- 1) Jedidiah is my name and here is where we begin our game. Find my headstone and you will know, how to start in the direction to go.
- 2) I am the first of two in town, so take your time to look around. North and South we all do pray, like the forefathers they do say. Congregational Sunday is our day to fill the pews in every way.
- 3) Dig I will for I was there, with sawmill homes and all that care. My road is rough and long at times, but my name is always on the sign.
- 4) I was a golf course one time and a ball field as well, but now my space is a school to fill. Many succeed and do move on, before you know they are gone.
- 5) The bridge is dry and off to the right, lays a rail trail that goes out of sight. Next to this trail I do stay, remnants of steam as I puffed away.
- 6) A site I was, with building and steams just for those who have dreams. A state, a park and all that is Green, is home to what once was a stream.
